Kenyatta University Recognized for Best ICT Programme in Higher Education

Nairobi 28th November 2014... Kenyatta University has been recognized for having Best ICT programme in Higher Education by the Computer Society of Kenya.

The Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Olive Mugenda received the Award during the 19th Annual Kenya ICT Excellence Awards ceremony held on 27th November 2014 at the Laico Regency Hotel, Nairobi. While presenting the Award to the Vice-Chancellor, the Marketing Director of Kenya ICT Authority, Ms. Eunice Kariuki lauded the University for being a trend setter by starting the Digital School.

The recent launch of Kenyatta University Digital School is a major milestone in the use of ICT to enhance access to higher education by proving a wide range of programmes at diploma, undergraduate and post-graduate levels through open and distance learning modes.

Over 1600 students registered for programmes in the Digital School in the first semester of the 2014/2015 academic year. All students were issued with a Smartphone tablet loaded with modules for their enrolled programmes, an initiative that is the first of its kind in the country. The University is currently preparing to receive more students in the second semester which begins in January 2015 where more students are expected.

Recognition by the Computer Society of Kenya at the Kenya ICT Excellence Awards is an indicator that Kenyatta University has performed at the highest level in this category, and a testament to the quality of services the University is currently offering to its students across the country.
